REFLECTION ON FOURTH SUNDAY OF EASTER (YEAR A)

Jesus the Gate and Shepherd: Jesus describes himself as both the shepherd and the gate for the sheep, offering a secure, intimate relationship. He protects his flock from danger and leads them to nourishment.

Listening to His Voice: The sheep know and follow the shepherd's voice, which can be heard in prayer, scripture, and conscience. Amidst competing voices, believers are encouraged to follow the one that leads to life.

Abundant Life: Jesus declares, "I came so that they might have life and have it more abundantly" (John 10:10), promising true flourishing and security.

The Call to Shepherd Others: Everyone with care for others—parents, teachers, and leaders—is called to be a good shepherd, loving those in their care and sacrificing for their welfare.

Following the Shepherd's Example: The readings encourage us to move away from fear and selfish desires, and to instead act with courage, compassion, and self-sacrifice, much like the Good Shepherd.

FAITH SHARING FOR SOCIETAL AND DEVOTIONAL GROUP

The image of God as Israel's was used over and over again in the Hebrew Scriptures. Jesus in John's Gospel uses this image when he describes himself as the Good Shepherd. When sheep were away from the sheepfold, they spent the night within a walled enclosure. The shepherd would lie down in the opening, thus becoming a gate to the enclosure.

Moreover, sheep respond only to the voice of their own shepherd. Jesus explains more fully: He is the good shepherd who calls followers to himself and lead them to God. He brings his flock not only security but life to the full, even now, in the life of the eternal God. When did you give guidance to someone that would lead them to follow the way of Christ.

EASTER SEASON

The Easter season is not only a celebration of what Christ has done, but an invitation to live differently because of it. Having journeyed through Lent and rejoiced at Easter, the Church now calls us to remain in the light of the Resurrection and to reflect that light in our daily lives.

The Easter candle remains a central symbol, lit during major celebrations, while the first eight days (the Octave of Easter) are observed as solemnities.

On the fortieth day, the Church celebrates the Ascension of the Lord, reminding us that Christ reigns with the Father and prepares a place for us. The celebration of the Ascension reminds us that while Christ returned to the Father, He did not abandon His Church. Instead, He entrusted His mission to us and promised the gift of the Holy Spirit.

Therefore, the Easter season challenges each of us to be witnesses of Christ in our homes, workplaces, and communities. It is a time to renew our faith, strengthen our hope, and allow the love of Christ to shine through our actions.
